

SUMMER COURSE ON REFUGEE AND FORCED MIGRATION ISSUES
CENTRE FOR REFUGEE STUDIES, YORK UNIVERSITY, TORONTO
May 6-12, 2012

2012 Summer Course provides

- a York University – Centre for Refugee Studies Summer Course Certificate.
- an interdisciplinary, interactive and experiential approach to the study of forced migration and refugee issues.
- a comparative global approach that exposes participants to the different perspectives of scholars and field-based specialists from Canada and abroad.
- a blend of well-respected academics and practitioners with an excellent national and international track record of research, policy engagement and publications.

2012 Summer Course topics include

- Forced displacement, international case studies
- Humanitarian crises
- Externalization of asylum
- Legal approaches to refugee studies
- UNHCR, the Convention and the International Refugee Regime
- Age and gender mainstreaming in forced migration
- UNRWA and Palestinian refugees
- Refugee resettlement policy
- Protection of internally displaced persons
- Sexuality and refugee issues
- Environmentally induced displacement
- Transitional justice
- Refugee education
- The future of forced migration

DATES: May 6-12, 2012

FEES: Early bird $975 + 13% HST (by February 1, 2012), $1190 + 13% HST

REGISTRATION DEADLINES: Visa applicants by February 1, 2012;
Non-visa applicants by April 30, 2012

For more information about participation requirements, important deadlines, and how to apply, visit <http://crs.yorku.ca/summer>
Questions? contact us at summer@yorku.ca